Full county status by this fall

Council endorses new Haliburton Act

Full county status for Haliburton county is now only months away, following an official vote by county council last week endorsing the move.

While some councillors are still refusing to support the change, which will drop "provisional" from the county title and so raise Haliburton to full county status, members voted 15 - 3 in favour of accepting a draft copy of a new Haliburton Act, presented to county council at a special session last week by an official from the Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing.

The resolution by county council to accept the move caps off more than a year's work by members of the county budget committee, who have investigated the implications of the move since it was first proposed in June of 1981. While the new status seemed at first to be only a matter of formality, many objections to the proposal were raised by councillors who feared education grants might be lost if the county's provisional status were dropped.

Ted Foster, senior policy advisor with the Ministry of Municipal Affairs, told the group following Thursday's resolution that a new Haliburton Act will be ready for first reading in the Legislation this October.

Following Thursday's meeting, County Warden Ron Gambell was jubilant about the council's decision. "I'm quite thrilled," Gambell said in an interview Monday. "This resolution represents a very historic occasion, because provisional means temporary. There should be great satisfaction in being able to stand up and be counted as a full county when the legislation is passed this fall and the new Haliburton Act becomes a reality.

A draft of the new Act see page 8

Victoria - Haliburton M.P.P, John Eakins expressed his support for the move in a letter to county council. Although Eakins could not attend the session, he told council in his letter, "I fully support this move and I am willing to assist in whatever help in whatever way I can."

Despite being passed by a strong 12 vote margin, the resolution to endorse the new act met with new opposition from Anson, Hindon and Minden representatives only seconds before it was put to vote at council. Following a careful reading of the draft act by Ted Foster, who has worked with the budget committee for the past several months to establish the terms of the act, Anson, Hindon and Minden reeve Lloyd Walker made a last minute objection to the document during the Thursday session. Walker asked warden Ron Gambell for an opportunity to read some proposed additions to the document, but Gambell refused the request, telling Walker that the resolution to accept the draft Act had already been prepared. "Why did you call a meeting if the resolution is already prepared?" Walker asked? Gambell responded, "So we can vote on it."

Walker then told Gambell that he refused to vote on the resolution unless given the chance to read his additions to council. Walker later reversed his decision, however, and voted in favour of the act.

While Walker never read the list, Minden deputy reeve Doug Pritchard entered the debate just as Gambell asked for a vote on the issue. In a strongly worded address to Foster, Pritchard told the advisor that he had ignored a request to have Minden's status as county seat confirmed in the act. "When you met with our council last week, we asked you to do one thing and one thing only, and that was to definately include Minden as county seat in the Act. I don't see it here," Pritchard told Foster. Foster replied that he had not recommended the statement be included in the Act, but be passed as a seperate resolution of county council. "I don't think it should be included here," Foster said in reference to the two-page

Fire story sparks protests

A recent newspaper story about a bush fire at Haliburton Lake has sparked the resignation of the Dysart municipal fire chief and raised loud protests from both the municipality and the Ministry of Natural Resources.

Dysart Fire Chief Howard Roberts, who has served as Chief for the past nine years, submitted a letter of resignation to municipal authorities last week, after a story in the Haliburton County Echo quoted cottagers who accused the department of showing a "lack of interest" in a fire that burned a quarter of an acre in the Haliburton Lake area August 3. An editorial in the same issue called the fire department's response to the call, "stupid, if not almost criminal".

The author of the story and editorial, Echo editor Peter McGuinness, has since been dismissed by the owners of the paper.

The fire at Haliburton Lake broke out at 8:30 a.m. August 3, although it is believed it may have started on the previous evening. Representatives from the Dysart Fire Department responded to a call on the evening of August 2 but were unable to locate a fire. When the fire erupted the next morning, Dysart Fire Chief told a cottager who reported the blaze that bush fires are the responsibility of the Ministry of Natural Resources, and that, because of the nature of the fire, the Dysart Fire department was unable to assist.

The fire was brought under control by cottagers in the area and finally extinguished by Ministry officials and fire warden John Bruce, using a portable pump which Bruce brought to the scene.

Several smaller fires broke out later in the day, and Bruce and MNR personnel returned to the scene several times to extinguish the fires. The Dysart Fire Department also sent six men to the scene Tuesday afternoon.

Although Fire Chief Howard Roberts submitted his resignation to Dysart municipality Friday following the fire, it was not accepted by the municipality and Roberts has since withdrawn it. Dysart reeve Murray Fearrey stressed in a statement this

Hospitals' future being considered

The future of the Red Cross Hospitals in Minden and Haliburton will be the topic of a meeting of the Red Cross Steering Committee of the Haliburton, Kawartha & Pine Ridge District Health Council tonight at Archie Stouffer Elementary School in Minden.

The District Health council, which oversees the operation of hospitals, doctors' offices and old age homes throughout the area, has been considering the future of the two Red Cross hospitals in Haliburton county for some time. It is expected that the two facilities may soon be annexed to the Ross Memorial Hospital in Lindsay, a move that has been carried out with other Red Cross hospitals in the province in recent years.

Marshall Elliott, Executive Director of the Health Council, would not elaborate on the agenda for the meeting when contacted at his office in Peterborough last week.

Members of the general public have been invited to attend the session. The meeting begins at 8:00 p.m.

Protests raised

week that he supported Roberts' actions in dealing with the fire. "In the opinion of Dysart council, Mr. Roberts has done no wrong; he did exactly what he should have done in that situation. I've talked to John Bruce and people at the MNR, and I'm absolutely convinced that there has been no wrong doing, neither on the part of the fire department nor the Ministry," Fearrey said.

Fearrey added that no lives or cottages were endangered in the blaze.

Local Fire Warden John Bruce agreed that the Fire Department was not guilty of misconduct in the incident. "The fire department did not mishandle the incident in any way," Bruce said Tuesday. "There is no reason to bring a volunteer fire department into the bush when there is no danger to lives or property," he said. Bruce also said that he personally called the department Tuesday when the fire had been brought under control to inform them they were not required at the site. Bruce called the newspaper article "completely and utterly inaccurate."

MNR Field Services Supervisor Tom Russell also objected to reports that MNR personnel did not arrive at the scene until 11:30 a.m. "We were called at 8:30 that morning and we immediately called our fire warden in the area, John Bruce. John was there at 9:00 and we had three men there by 9:45," he said.

Although Dysart Fire Chief Howard Roberts has withdrawn his resignation, he is still upset about the newspaper coverage of the incident. "I feel the story was one sided," Roberts said in an interview Monday. "There is no monetary gain or glory in this job and we don't need that kind of commentary. I'm just trying to be a good citizen and if that isn't good enough then I'll get out," Roberts said.

Both the MNR and the OPP who were called in by the Ministry to investigate the blazes, suspect that the fires were deliberately set. According to Russell, police have questioned one individual in connection with the fires, but no charges have been laid.

Youth killed in logging mishap

A nineteen-year-old Oshawa youth was killed August 3 when he was struck by a falling tree while driving his all-terrain vehicle in a logging area.

Lyle Forester was staying at a family cottage on Benoir Lake in Harcourt township when he took his three wheel all-terrain vehicle along a logging road nearby. Forester was crushed when a 12 inch, 60 foot poplar tree fell across the road he was travelling.

A three-man logging crew was working in the area at the time.

The youth was taken by ambulance to Haliburton Hospital, but pronounced dead on arrival.

Coroner in the incident was Dr. Harry Good. The incident was investigated by Constable Weldon Popp of the O.P.P.

Suspected kidnapping case cleared by O.P.P.

On a dark afternoon in August, two men stand over the trunk of a grey, foreign model car and watch a third man climb into the trunk. The lid is closed and the two men disappear quietly in the car down an isolated road in Minden township.

This was the scene described to police last week by a teenage girl, who watched while the mysterious men placed their captive in the trunk and drove away down Old Ingoldsby Road. The third man's hands may have been tied behind his back, the frightened girl told police, but she couldn't be sure. Luckily, though, she had been alert enough to copy down the car's licence number. Police launched an immediate investigation into the report.

Checking the registration of the car that same day, Minden constables Boyd Jarvis and Weldon Popp came up with their first clue in the case. By following the address listed on the registration, the two officers reasoned, they might be led to the suspect car and thereby to its owner.

Climbing into an O.P.P. cruiser, Popp and Jarvis sped to the scene of a Minden township residence, where their hunch quickly paid off. The suspect vehicle, a grey, foreign model car, sat parked in the driveway.

While the car had been located, the investigation was far from closed. Checking the trunk of the vehicle, the two officers found it was empty. The constables moved immediately to locate the owner of the vehicle, who was found in the house adjacent. Under interrogation from the two officers, the man slowly unfolded a story that surprised even the investigating team.

The owner of the car revealed that he had been plagued by a mysterious rattle in his car, and had been unable to locate it through conventional means. Rounding up two of his neighbours, he told police, the man had his accomplices place him in the trunk and close the lid. Then, under the owner's direction, the two men drove down a previously selected rural road in order for the owner to listen for the rattle from inside the trunk.

The story, strange as it was, put to rest a number of theories Popp and Jarvis had formed in trying to break the case. "Was the man in the trunk a victim of kidnapping? Could the three be proponents of an international drug smuggling scheme? Was there a drive-in on Old Ingoldsby Road?"

According to O.P.P. sources, the man now believes the rattle may be located in the undercarriage of the vehicle. He has no immediate plans to check on the suspect location.

Popp and Jarvis have decided not to press charges in the case.

County drops Official Plan

After more than ten years on the drawing board, the county Official Plan has again met with problems in the planning stage and has been abandoned by county council until the election of a new council this fall.

The Official Plan, which has suffered numerous setbacks and complications since the idea for the document was first introduced at county council in 1971, was shelved by the county Planning Committee after terms of reference for the plan were rejected by the provincial government recently. According to officials of the Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing, the terms of reference, prepared by the Toronto firm of Municipal Planning Consultants, were not broad enough in their approach to planning problems in the county, and county council has now decided that there is not enough time to draw up new terms for the plan before municipal elections in November.

In a report made to county council last week, Planning Committee chairman Ken Maguire told the group that the government had refused to provide funding for the preparation of the Plan if the terms of reference drawn up by the Toronto firm were followed. "The Ministry of Municipal Affairs has written to say that they are not going to fund the study as it is currently planned," Maguire told the council last Thursday. "They're not going to buy what we've prepared. We're back to square one," he said. He added that the county has passed three resolutions endorsing the idea of an Official Plan since 1971, but that all previous attempts to arrive at a suitable approach to the plan have been dropped. "The only way we are going to make the Official Plan work is to buy what the government wants us to do," Maguire said.

An Official Plan for Haliburton County would provide a comprehensive planning strategy for all municipalities in the county, establishing guidelines for both developers and municipal governments. The document would also receive official legal recognition from the Ontario Municipal Board in hearings on development and zoning issues.

While there has been general agreement at county council that the official plan would benefit the county, some of the smaller municipalities in the county have argued that their areas would not benefit from the plan, while their taxpayers would be forced to share the cost of having the plan prepared. The municipality of Dysart, meanwhile, already has an official plan of its own.

According to county clerk-treasurer Win Lahay, the province rejected the terms of reference for the plan because they were based mostly on the existing Dysart official plan, which the firm prepared, as well as the county planning strategy. "The province thinks the terms of reference should address alternative forms of planning, to establish whether we need an official plan or not," Lahay said in an interview Monday. "They liked the work done by the firm, but they want the appraisal to look at the whole situation, and alternatives to an Official Plan. Our terms were geared specifically towards an Official Plan," Lahay said.

At the Thursday session of council, Monmouth reeve Keith Tallman agreed with Maguire that the terms of reference would have to be done according to the province's wishes. "I think we're hammering our heads against the wall doing an appraisal for terms of reference without the Ministry present," Tallman told the meeting. Warden Ron Gambell, however, said that meetings with the government on the planning issue had not been fruitful. "The more I meet with planning consultants, the more confused I get," he told the group.

Dysart reeve Murray Fearrey wound up debate on the issue by proposing that the problem be left to the incoming council. "I think we should drop it until the fall," Fearrey said. "We'll have new faces here in November; let's let them deal with it," he added.

Members of the Dixieland Jazz Band blew sweet melodies to a large and appreciative crowd during Haliburton Rotary Carnival Parade last Wednesday in Haliburton village. The Rotarians put on a well-received celebration which included rides and games at the Haliburton baseball diamond. The Dixieland Group were only a small part of the festivities during the hour-long parade.

New status by October

draft of the Haliburton Act. "Queen's Park wouldn't accept it."

Education grants to the Haliburton County Board of Education, which some councillors have argued might be reduced if the provisional status were dropped, were also addressed by Foster during his report to the group. Quoting a letter from Education Minister Bette Stephenson to Minister of Municipal Affairs Claude Bennett, Foster told the meeting, "I can assure you that the implementation of a Haliburton County Act will not be a reason for a change to education grants to the Haliburton County Board of Education." While Foster said that the letter was part of inter-Ministry correspondence, and therefore not available for general release, he invited councillors to personally inspect the letter.

Despite Foster's assurance that education grants will remain in place, Snowdon reeve Bob Vick continued to resist the move, and both he and Cardiff representatives Malcolm McGillivray and Mack Peters voted against full county status. Vick objected to Foster's stand on education grants, telling the government official that Stephenson's letter made no mention of "special grants", but only education grants in general. Foster told the Snowdon reeve, however, that "Pupil transport" and "goods and services" grants mentioned in the letter covered both special subsidies of 15 and 6 per cent currently received by the county.

Following Foster's presentation, Gambell thanked him for his work on the document and presented him with a copy of "In Quest of Yesterday" a history of the Haliburton Highlands.

Another delay

It is unfortunate that province and county governments cannot see eye to eye on the need for an official plan. The councillors were informed Thursday that the province would not accept the terms of reference set out by the county's planners.

An official plan would give the county a number of benefits. It would clearly lay out expectations for future development. It would identify, in a manner acceptable to the Ontario Municipal Board, the sort of development the citizens of the county want. Those with resources to invest in the area would have a clear guide to what is acceptable.

On a more practical basis, an official plan opens access to numerous provincial assistance programs that are now unavailable due to the lack of the document.

An official plan is an indication that a municipality or area has reached a level of maturity and sophistication that encourages and attracts investment. Haliburton County will not "die" without one, but its ability to grow and progress will be hampered.

The big losers in this most recent delay, the council has been toying with the idea of a county-wide plan since 1971, will be the area's taxpayers. They can only hope that the new council which takes office in December will view the creation of an official plan as a high priority. The future development of the county will depend on it.

A new idea

A new idea in autumn entertainment has been proposed for the county.

The Haliburton Highlands Harvest Festival will feature four theme pavilions at various locations during two weekends in September and October. Visitors to the pavilions will have an opportunity to sample cuisines keyed to the theme of the pavilion. Decorations will accent the event. The entertainment will also complement the theme.

The festival is fashioned on the Toronto Caravan which has proven extremely successful. With proper attention to detail, our own Harvest Festival should prosper as well. It is an innovative and welcome addition to the fall attractions for which the Highlands is already famous. We wish it success.

On a hot summer day, most Canadians head for the water. If you forsake the crowds on the sterile sand beaches and visit a weedy backwater instead, you will soon discover that the water is full of life too. Most aquatic invertebrates are difficult to identify at first, but at least one group is very distinctive - the caddis flies.

Your first encounter with a caddis fly larvae is usually a surprise. Watch the bottom of a small stream or pond, and you will often see small bits of debris that seem to be jerking themselves along. These moving pieces of debris, often up to an inch long, are actually the cases of the caddis fly larvae. Sheltered inside, hidden from view, are the elongated larvae themselves.

Caddis fly houses come in all shapes. In my pond, the most common type is a messy bundle of stick-like vegetation shaped something like a round log cabin. Other larvae use vegetation glued tightly into a hollow tube, or grains of sand, bark, leaves, or other debris. Some cases are built to resemble snail shells, some are turtle-shaped and others include a silken net to capture food. In all of these houses, the different species of caddis fly larvae look much the same - a worm-like body with an armour-plated head and thorax and three hook-like legs extending in front for building and locomotion.

Adult caddis flies are undistinguished, moth-like creatures that often emerge only at night. These adults generally live less than a month. While they usually deposit their eggs directly in the water, some species simply drop their eggs from flight, and others deposit eggs on streamside vegetation where the next rain will carry them into suitable ponds.

Caddis fly larvae keep well in acquariums, as long as they have oxygen and a supply of marsh vegetation for food and shelter. Their slow-motion antics are one of the best ways to introduce children to the multitude of life in a woodland pond.

No doubt many of your readers have heard that our truck and load of hay were destroyed by fire and my husband just got away from the truck in time. The firemen who came out are quite sure it was caused by some careless smoker who threw a cigarette butt onto the hay.

I always thought that smoking is a silly and expensive habit, but if people want to smoke I wish they would use care and common sense. I could have lost my dear husband which would have been much worse than losing a truck and hay.

As a visitor from Britain may I write you a letter of thanks and appreciation.

I came out to Minden to see the Canadian Branch of our family, and I had a marvellous holiday as well!

I have most pleasurable recollections of lunch at 'The Rockcliffe" sitting in beautiful sunshine on the deck amongst pleasant company.

Evenings spent barbequeing in the gardens of Peter and Sue's hospitable friends, dinner at "The Fireside" with good food and wines, listening to John McCabe's Country and Western music.

A visit to a most interesting local arts and crafts exhibition, and to the Kanawa Canoe Museum - and I sincerely hope that Minden is successful in its bid to house this unique collection.

Minden even provided a cloudless sky to view a most impressive full eclipse of the moon, and on another evening a most spectacular view of the Aurora Borealis.

I found a most friendly atmosphere everywhere, and the stores and gift shops most helpful and welcoming.

Your scenery is stupendous and all this coupled with the most perfect weather - what more could one ask for?

I want to say thank you and I hope to come again.

Hydro then and now

Lineman Buzz Godin recalls a life on the lines

- by David Swail -

Struggling into the cottage late on a Friday night, arms laden with weekend supplies, few people think twice about the convenience of electricity as they grope with an elbow for the lightswitch. But hydro service in the Minden area hasn't always been so close at hand; bringing power to the Highlands has been a challenge and a living for hundreds of men in the county. The 50-man operation that represents Ontario Hydro in the Highlands today once consisted of no more than three men and a truck. Thirty-six years and several thousand hydro poles later, Buzz Godin remembers his days raising poles and stringing lines in the bush of Haliburton county.

"When I arrived in Minden, all that was here was Mac McCarey, two other men and a single line service truck; that was Ontario Hydro in those days," the 58-year-old Godin recalls from the comfort of the kitchen at his home in Minden. McCarey eventually became area foreman for Hydro, and today Godin is line foreman, a job in which he oversees the maintenance and repair of all the rural hydro lines that he personally helped raise by hand during his years on the line. "He keeps telling me he saved civilization when he came to Minden to put the poles in," Godin's wife Bessie quips as she returns from the morning shopping with an arm load of groceries, switching on the lights that she says her husband is fanatical about turning off behind her. From the vantage point of the Godin's kitchen table, it seems Buzz may be right.

The bulk of Buzz's 36 years with Hydro has been spent on the lines. Raising poles by hand, stringing lines by horse, and now keeping a watchful eye on every mile of cable in the country. The big challenge in the old days, and in Buzz's view a big difference between Hydro then and now, was the gruelling job of raising poles by hand.

"Raising poles in the early days was one of the most dangerous jobs I've ever encountered," Buzz recalls as he thinks back to his first days on the line. "I never saw a serious accident, but I watched enough near misses to know what could happen."

In the forties and fifties, poles were raised by means of a raising horse, an apparatus much like a giant saw horse with a wooden cradle. "In those days we worked with eight men on a crew. Five or six men would raise the pole as high as they could by hand, then we'd put the horse underneath the pole and haul it up the rest of the way by hand with ropes," Buzz explains. Afterwards came the work of scaling the pole to install insulators and transformers. "It took five or six men to raise a pole safely then; now we use a timberjack, a truck with an auger and a derrick, and we can do the whole job with three men."

Once poles were in place, the job of stringing lines was done by horse. A reel would be set up at a nearby site and the lines would be pulled out by horse. While horses are still used on occasion by Bell, at Hydro the practice has again been replaced by machine.

Help from above

Besides the timber jack, the use of the helicopter has also revolutionized the installation of poles, a technique developed first in Haliburton county. Godin describes the challenge faced by Hydro crews when lines first went in to Hawk Lake. "The right-of-way was so rough to Hawk Lake, you couldn't even get a horse over it. It was mostly rock, so most of our holes we had to drill and blast," a task which Godin says has been particularly important in the rocky terrain of the Highlands.

The Hawk Lake line, which was built only in 1961, was the line Hydro used to employ their first large helicopter, a Secoursky S55, and even then there were technical problems to overcome. Says Godin, "It was a difficult job because the pilot couldn't see the pole, since it was directly underneath the helicopter. We'd prepare the poles on the ground about 3 or 4 miles from the line. We'd deck them out with transformers, and all the hardware, while they were still on the ground, then fashion them with guidelines and send them up," Godin explains. "We had to guide the pole into the hole by hand, using a radio to keep the pilot informed as to where the pole was."

The Highlands were the testing grounds for a technique that has since made great advances, says Godin, "From those early jobs they've advanced to setting men on top of towers, picking them up, and laying submarine cable. The Hawk Lake job was very important - really one of the highlights of my career."

Between raising poles by hand and by helicopter, the Hydro service in the Highlands has come a long way. The less than 3,000 customers that used Hydro in 1946 have swelled to 14,200, although amazingly a full 10,000 of those are summer customers only. The Orillia Light and Power Company's dam on the Gull River supplied all the Hydro to the Minden area in 1946, a job now done by a 230,000 line that feeds the switching station on Highway 121 and originates at Des Joachism, a dam on the Ottawa River, some 90 air miles from Haliburton county.

Electricity in Haliburton was once supplied solely by a water generater on the Dover Spring Road at Mud Lake. Haliburton's hydro authority was taken over by Ontario Hydro in 1948. The 150 original miles of line ran to Kinmount, Halls Lake, Gelert, Lochlin and east to the switching station on hwy. 121. Now Godin oversees six distribution stations and 800 miles of line that take in 5,000 transformers. The booming tourist market now enjoys a service unheard of in the forties, when, as Godin remembers, "the toasters were faint and the light bulbs were dim all summer." Rural lines to cottages still account for most of the 11 kilometres of new line that Hydro will build in the area this year.

Wind causes problems

Today, Godin's biggest battle is not against black-flies or treacherous rights-of-way, but against the weather. "Wind is our biggest headache at Hydro," Godin says. "After that freak storm on Eagle Lake last month we had 10 spans on the ground; there were trees every which way. We had crews up from Orillia to help straighten it out." When he's not battling the elements, Godin is conducting an extensive network of maintenance programs that include testing and treating of poles and pole top maintenance. Minden's Hydro line crew is now 23 strong, a force that employs a dozen pickup trucks, several boats and trailers, and eight snow-machines in addition to the huge and costly special equipment that is stored in the yard on Highway 35. A hydro pole which cost $7 in 1946 now ranges between $200 and $300, and the large equipment represents a bill in the six-figure range. "When you see a hydro truck go by with a fold-over derrick, you're looking at $100,000,'" Godin explains.

While the equipment and techniques have changed drastically, so has the spirit of the line crew. "I think the old crews had a stronger working relationship than what's evident today, and I don't know why that is. In the early days we used to cut and burn the right-of-way, dig the foundation holes and set the poles by hand; a crew of eight guys working together day after day after day. Now two men will go out to put up one pole, and we have special construction crews to do alot of the ground work."

Mrs. Godin concurrs with Buzz's view, adding a story of her own about the day they were married. The Hydro truck was waiting outside the United Church in Minden, decorated from bumper to bumper and ready to take the Godin's on a two hour ride around town.

Mrs. Godin has a few stories too, that Buzz for some reason doesn't relate; about an eight-man crew working from the chamber

by Bob Stinson

A project initiated for the Chamber by Elgin Stouffer of Stanhope is now being utilized by at least six radio stations and hopefully more will take advantage of it shortly. Weather reports on conditions in the Highlands are prepared twice daily by Elgin and taped on an answering device. The recorded message is received when the toll free number installed for this purpose is called by the radio station and they can play it back over the air at their convenience.

Stations presently making use of the service are CKLY in Lindsay, CHUM in Toronto, CKOC and CHML Hamilton and CKKW and CFCA in Kitchener. One of these stations reported to us that they had received some favourable comments from listeners about this service and it occurred to us that a note from some of you to any of the above stations would help to encourage them to continue the broadcast of our messages. Let them know we appreciate their co-operation.

Publicity in the 'Daily Racing Form'

An article, forwarded to us written by Wally Wood, in the August 4 edition of the Racing Form is entitled "Haliburton Huskie Learning Quickly". It is not about one of our local hockey players, but a feature story on a two year old gelding that had just won the Bull Page stakes. Haliburton Huskie is owned by Gary Vasey in partnership with Marge Magnusson whose husband Glenn is the trainer. The naming of the horse is in line with Gary's previous decision to name one of the horses Minden Monarch after the two local hockey teams he has been involved with. He and Don Finn have also named horses after local lakes such as Kennisis and Kushog and also raced one called Haliburton Boy. They also use the Haliburton tartan as their racing colours.

Haliburton Huskie may well be one of the greatest horses Gary has yet been involved with according to the promise he is now showing. He is scheduled to run next in the $50,000 added Vandal Stakes in Fort Erie on August 14 and may then go to Winnipeg for the six furlong Futurity which is worth over $40,000 to the winner. Let's hope we continue to see headlines about Haliburton Huskie.

Acid Rain battle gets a boost

We have among our members, an American friend by the name of George Barna who spends his summers at the Haliburton Forest Reserve. George has a consulting firm called G. Barna Recreational Travel Services and he dropped us off a copy of an article that had been printed in a magazine called "Sports Afield" about Acid Rain. This is an American publication with wide readership and George had written a note on the corner to indicate he had distributed over 1000 of these articles in the United States.

One of the biggest problems we have in dealing with this problem in the U.S. is the lack of awareness by the bulk of their population and it is most gratifying to see that in spite of President Reagan's efforts to the contrary, the message is getting out. The article is an excellent one which explains the problem and the possible solutions in very basic terms.

In the article an Acid Rain Test kit is described which they are making available to their readers at a nominal cost of $2.95 each plus postage. The kit allows the individual to test his own lake or drinking water for acidity and includes report cards to be sent back to the publisher. The results should prove to be very effective ammunition for those lobbying in Washington.

Our thanks to Sports Afield and George Barna for spreading the word on this important issue.

Coming up Next

The Wilberforce Rockhound Fair gets underway this weekend. This annual event attracts dealers and hobbyists from both Canada and U.S. to swap rocks and stories and take part in field trips to diggings and view exhibits. A recent copy of the "Mineralogical Record" shows just how significant that part of our County is when you consider the variety of fine material specimens available there. Almost half of the examples shown in this very excellent book are from the eastern townships of Haliburton County. You don't have to be a rockhounder to enjoy the Rockhound Fair. It's designed to interest everyone, so drop over and pay them a visit.

The Stanhope Air Show will run this Sunday, August 15, starting with a giant beef barbecue at 11:30 a.m. and the Air Display at 1:30. There will be an Armed Forces Exhibit, Gliders and a display of Radio Controlled models and the very popular Jeff Barry Band

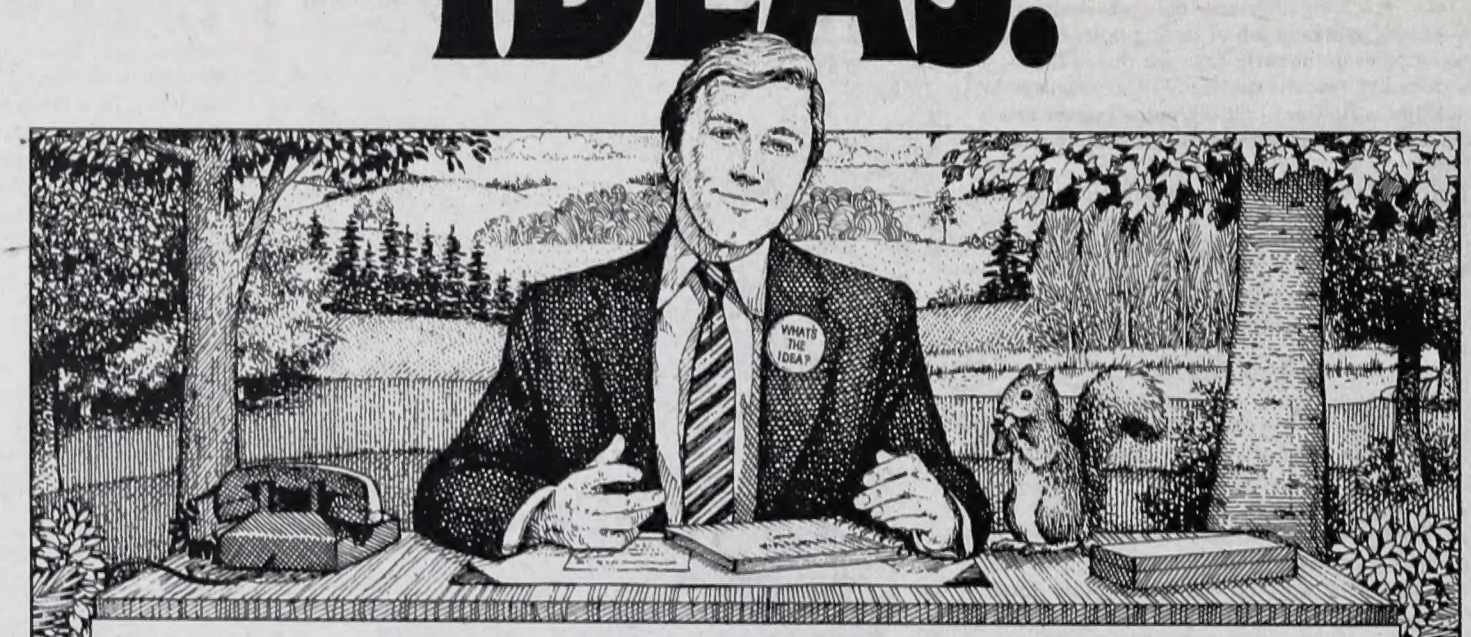
Working strategy was as important on the line as it was after hours for the linemen, Godin recalls that the Rockcliffe Hotel played a big part in the lineman's life. "We'd usually stop in for a few beers after work, to talk about what had happened that day on the line," Godin recalls. "We used to build more line at night than we did in the day," he remembers with a smile.

COME OUT WITH YOUR IDEAS.



At the Ministry of Natural Resources, we have to be a lot of things to a lot of people. That's why we want to hear your ideas.

We've compiled draft district land use strategies which recommend the many ways Southern Ontario's natural resources ought to be managed. And with forests, fish, wildlife, mineral resources, provincial parks, marshes, recreational areas, waterfronts, and lots of dry land to consider, that can be a pretty wide open area.

So we want you to tell us what you think. To make it easier, we're sponsoring a series of Open Houses, in districts all across Southern Ontario, giving you the chance to come out and tell us how you feel about what we have in mind.

Festival planned for this autumn

A new idea in festivals, which will involve four communities in the county, is going to be tried this fall in the Highlands.

Sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, the event will be known as the Haliburton Highlands Harvest Festival. It is being modeled after the extremely successful Caravan celebration in Toronto.

Art Ward, owner of the Wig-A-Mog Inn on Lake Kashagawigamog, suggested the idea to the Chamber directors earlier this summer. Chamber president Rhonda Elstone said the program will help to generate interest in the area during the fall colour season.

According to plans announced Sunday at a press conference, the Harvest Festival will involve four different theme pavilions in four communities during the last weekend in September and the first weekend in October.

Each pavilion, which is being co-sponsored by local service organizations, will involve a separate theme. The Minden pavilion, slated for September 24, will follow a Carribean Island theme. The Minden Figure Skating Club will host the event at the Community Centre.

September 25 the pavilion will be at the Glamorgan Community Centre in Gooderham where the recreation committee will hold a German night. The Stanhope Firemen will host a French theme pavilion at the Stanhope Firemen's Hall October 1. The final pavilion will be held in Haliburton, at the Legion Hall. The Rotary Club of that community will present an English theme.

The Chamber of Commerce will sell the "passports" that will admit the holder to the pavilion for the evening. Funds raised by passport sales will be used for promotion of the event this year and, if it proves to be a success, in future years. The sponsoring groups will cover their costs through the sale of food and drinks on the night of each festival.

The Chamber has also acquired the services of Juli Gray, a local resident who is knowledgeable in ethnic cuisine. She will be assisting the local groups in planning the menus for the evening and suggesting decorating touches to match the theme.

According to Art Ward, the Chamber expects to sell close to 1000 passports during the promotion leading up to the festival. The passports will only be available in advance and admission on the night of the event will be limited to passport holders.

"The evenings should be attractive to local residents as well as visitors to the area," Ward commented. He said they expect visitors staying at area resorts to take advantage of the festival as well as residents of surrounding communities.

"I am very pleased that local groups in each of the communities have come forward and agreed to sponsor the pavilions," Chamber president Rhonda Elstone said. "It is sure to generate considerable interest in visiting our area at the peak of the beautiful colour season."

The passports will go on sale this weekend at various locations throughout the county. They will be available at the Chamber office, and Sandalwood Gifts in Minden, at Barr's Store in Gooderham, Mr. Fogg's in Carnarvon and Varty's Jewellery in Haliburton.

The passports will be available for single events or in two or four event combinations. The single event price is $3; two events $5; and $8 for all four events.

Moose killed

A moose was reported killed by a car on Highway 118 near Kushog Lake Monday night.

Cameron Baxter, 48, of Belleville was travelling on Highway 118 10 kilometres west of Kushog Lake Road when he struck the animal. Baxter's 1980 Volkswagen received $800 in damages in the collision. Baxter escaped unharmed.

The incident occurred at 9:30 p.m.

REAPing energy savings

Ontario Hydro is providing a free service to area residents that could help consumers save on their energy bills. Unfortunately, the program has yet to receive the response Hydro officials expected or feel it deserves.

"Perhaps it is because we are offering the service free of charge and consumers are wary of anything these days that is free," Harry Earl of the Minden Hydro office comments. He along with Doug McGee and Doug Thomson are responsible for administering the program known as REAP. The letters stand for Residential Energy Advisory Program.

According to Earl, the program co-ordinators had set a target of 350 assessments in a year, but the local group has carried out only 153 as of last week. Hydro has used the local media and brochure distribution to explain the program, but there still appears to be a reluctance on the part of consumers to get involved. Earl has undertaken to contact some consumers directly by phone and has received some encouraging results which he hopes will start to grow as word spreads through the community on the program.

(As part of Ontario Hydro appreciation week in Minden next week, the utility will have a display in the store next to the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce. Details of the REAP program will be available there as will one of the members of the Hydro staff.)

The REAP program involves an indepth assessment of a dwelling with regard to insulation, areas of heat loss and heat sources. "The interview with the owner and visit to the home can take from one and a half to two and a half hours, depending on the questions asked by the owner," Earl noted.

The assessment begins as the REAP representative arrives. He examines the outside of the house, looking for loose caulking, lack of weather-stripping and ventilation. The tell-tale drip of water from a roof in winter, tells the representatives that the insulation in the attic is inadequate.

Once inside, the REAP personnel start from the bottom up. In the basement they examine the amount of insulation in place, the state and setting of the water heater and the main source of heat, if a furnace is located downstairs. "The emphasis on insulation used to be on roofs and ceilings," Earl comments, "but opinions are changing. The basement which is uninsulated, especially around the headers, can be a major source of heat loss. One audit I completed showed that additional insulation in the basement could save the owner $220 per year."

The inspection continues through the house with the amount and type of insulation being noted at various locations. The seals around doors and windows are examined and the type of glazing is taken into consideration.

"Generally we've found that homeowners can save the cost of caulking and weather-stripping in the first year," Earl pointed out. That not only means the additional costs are absorbed in energy savings, but the house is more comfortable to live in with chilly drafts from windows and doors being eliminated.

Details concerning the number of appliances in use, hot water usage, and other energy consuming activities in a home are considered. The heating costs for the past three years are also required to give the REAP personnel a base from which to make their assessment.

When all the statistics have been gathered they are incorporated into an equation. The formula should tell the homeowner how much he could save in energy costs by, for example, adding weather-stripping, double or triple glazing windows, turning down the hot water heater thermostat, or many other energy saving ideas.

The assessment could also lead to the suggestion that the homeowner consider another source of heat to reduce the costs. The various possibilities are considered and compared and the points laid out for the homeowner to ponder. A copy of the report is left with the home owner.

"People feel because we are working for Hydro, we're there to push electrical sales," Earl commented. "That is not necessarily the case. We are interested in energy conservation, in the home owner getting the best return for the dollar he spends on energy, whatever the source."

The REAP personnel are also knowledgeable about a number of federal and provincial assistance programs which can be used to help cover the cost of insulating homes. Material on these programs is also left with the homeowner.

"There are 3500 Hydro customers in this area," Earl said, "and we are only reaching a small number of those. This program is available to permanent residents and cottage owners as well." He noted that some cottages, which were built initially for summer use only and are therefore very poorly insulated, are now being used in the winter. "The owners come up on the weekends and leave the heat on during the week. The energy costs could be high if the building is not properly insulated."

Residents interested in taking advantage of the REAP program should contact Harry Earl at the Ontario Hydro office (286-2031), or visit the Ontario Hydro display, next week, on Minden's Main Street.

First draft of the new Haliburton Act

County council's endorsement of a new Haliburton Act last week brings the county to within months of assuming full county status. While the move will not entail significant changes in the administration of the county, it will mean major growth in the north. The townships of Lawrence and Nightingale, once part of Sherborne, McClintock and Livingstone, will be returned to their original township. Removed by the province in 1910 for the formation of Algonquin Park, the two northernmost areas of the county will now make up part of the new, enlarged township of Sherborne, McClintock and Livingstone, Lawrence and Nightingale, or as Ted Foster called it at county council last week, most likely "Sherborne et al." Although no grants are mentioned in the draft document, it is likely the move may mean provincial subsidies to compensate for the land use in Algonquin Park.

The new Act has a long road to travel before it comes into effect on December 1 this year. Now that it has received endorsement from county council, the document will next be reviewed by the Cabinet Committee on Resources Development. From there it will go to the Honourable Claude Bennett, Minister of Municipal Affairs and Housing, who will give it his approval before presenting it to the full Cabinet. The Cabinet then offers the Act to the Caucus for first approval, and finally the document finds its way onto the floor of the legislature where, if all goes well, it will receive first reading this October. After second reading by the legislature the Act goes to a Committee of the Whole or a subcommittee for final review before third and final reading in the legislature. Finally, The Date of Royal Ascent; the day the Act is signed by the Lieutenant Governor.

It is a long process for what is technically a minor political change, but the spirit behind the move should be felt by every resident of the county; after a century and a half as a "provisional" county, Haliburton is soon to come of age.

Here in draft form are the contents of the County of Haliburton Act:

WHEREAS The Corporation of the Provisional County of Haliburton hereby applies for special legislation in respect of the matters hereinafter set forth; and whereas it is expedient to grant the application;

THEREFORE, Her Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Ontario, enacts as follows:

1. The Provisional County of Haliburton is hereby erected to full county status within the meaning of the Municipal Act.

2. The County of Haliburton shall consist of the following municipalities:

Anson, Hindon and Minden; Bicroft; Cardiff; Dysart; Bruton; Clyde; Dudley; Eyre; Guilford; Harburn; Harcourt and Havelock; Glamorgan; Lutterworth; Monmouth; Sherborne; McClintock; Livingstone, Lawrence and Nightingale; Snowdon; Stanhope.

3. Notwithstanding the Provincial Courts Act, for judicial purposes, including the holding of courts, the officers of such courts, judicial process and proceedings, and the selection of jurors, the County is united to and forms part of the County of Victoria.

4. The justices of the peace appointed for the County are entitled to sit in the general sessions held for the County of Victoria.

5. Where an appeal lies from the decision of a justice or justices of the peace to the general sessions of the peace, the appeal in a case arising in the County lies to and may be heard and determined by the Court of General Sessions of the Peace for the County of Victoria.

6. All returns of convictions required by law to be made by a justice of the peace for the County shall be made to the Clerk of the peace for the County of Victoria.

7. The Lieutenant Governor in Council may from time to time direct that one or more suitable jails or lock-ups shall be provided by the Minister of Government Services in the County out of money appropriated for that purpose.

8. Every jail and lock-up erected under the authority of the Lieutenant Governor in Council is a common jail of the County and of the County of Victoria for the safe custody of persons charged with the commission, within the County, of crimes, or with the commission therein of offences against any statute of Ontario or against any municipal by-law, who may not have been finally committed for trial, and for the safe custody of such persons when finally committed for trial until removed to the common jail at Lindsay, and for the confinement of persons sentenced within the County for such crimes or offences for periods not exceeding one month, and for the confinement of persons so sentenced for periods exceeding one month until such persons can be conveniently removed to the common jail at Lindsay, or other lawful prison to which they are sentenced.

9. Nothing in section 8 prevents any court or justice of the peace from directing the committal to the common jail at Lindsay, either for safe custody or for punishment, of any person whom it is considered expedient to commit thereto.

10. An appeal lies from the decision of the Assessment Review Court in respect of any municipality in the County to the judge of the county court of the County of Victoria.

11. The land registrar shall keep his office in a place to be named for that purpose in his commission, or at such other place as is appointed by the Lieutenant Governor in Council.

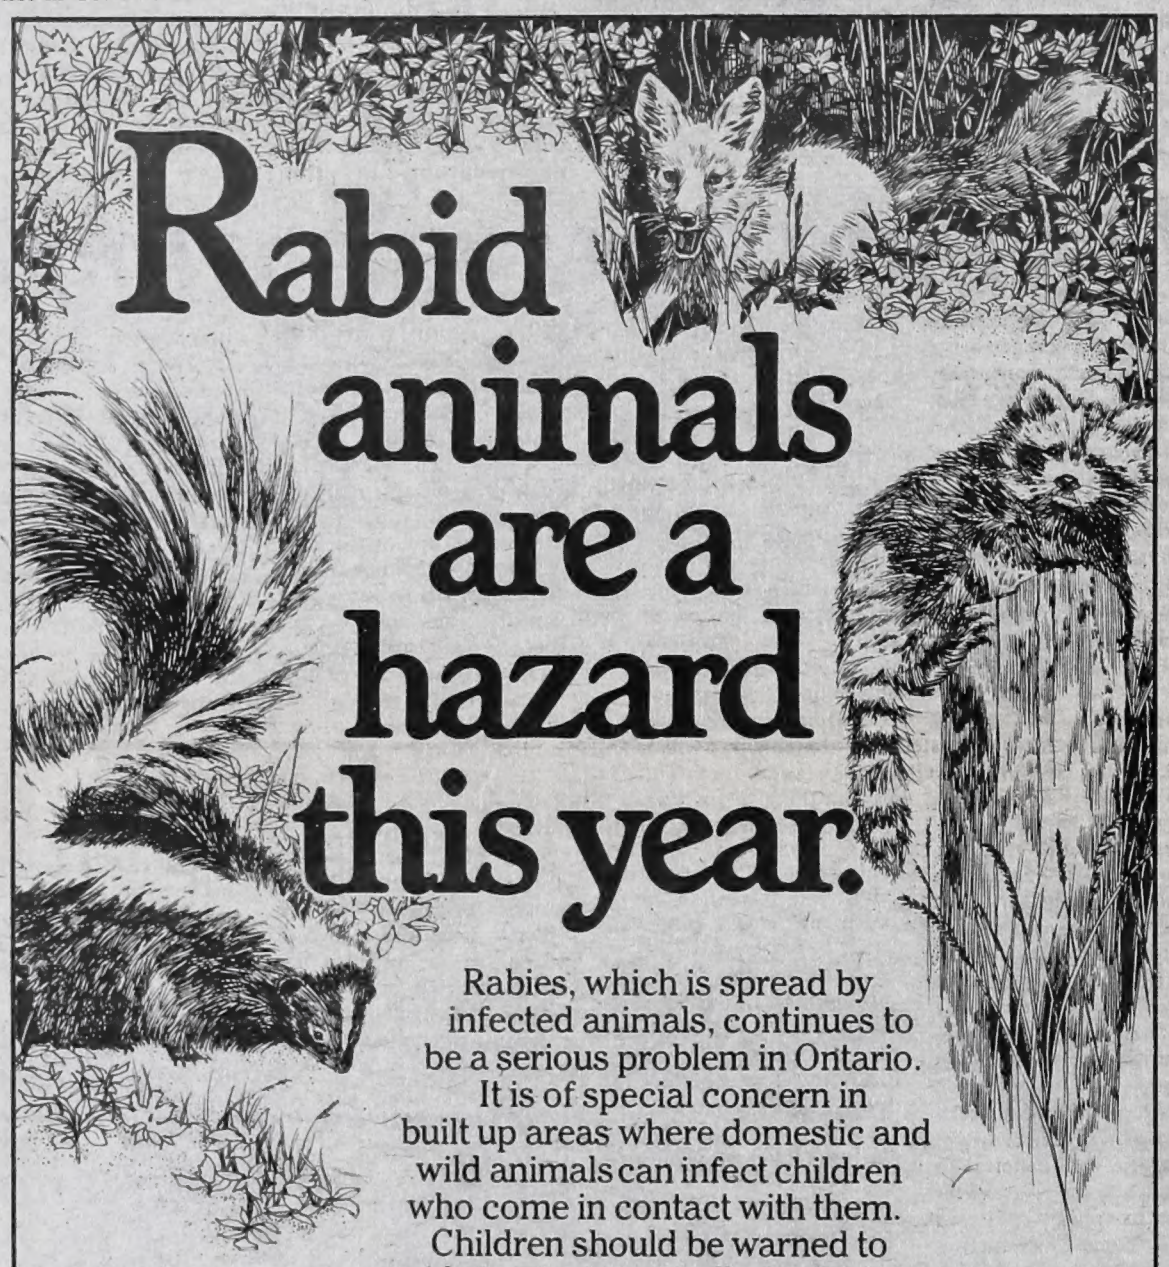
12. The geographic townships of Lawrence and Nightingale are re-united with the Township of Sherborne, McClintock and Livingstone to form the Township of Sherborne, McClintock, Livingstone, Lawrence and Nightingale.

13. Notwithstanding section 27 of the Municipal Act, on the recorded vote of county council, a township shall have a minimum of 2,500 municipal electors for its deputy reeve to be eligible to vote, except in the absence of its reeve.

14. The Haliburton Act, being Chapter 194 of the Revised Statutes of Ontario 1980, is repealed.

15. This Act comes into force on the 1st day of December 1982.

16. The short title of this Act is the County of Haliburton Act, 1982.



Rabid animals are a hazard this year.

Rabies, which is spread by infected animals, continues to be a serious problem in Ontario. It is of special concern in built up areas where domestic and wild animals can infect children who come in contact with them. Children should be warned to avoid stray pets, as well as wild animals, especially if they appear sick or friendly because these usually are signs that they are rabid.

Pets should be regularly vaccinated, leashed, and kept indoors at night. You can help to control rabies by reporting to your local police, humane society or health unit any pets or wild animals which are acting strangely.

Do not handle your pet with bare hands immediately after it has fought with a rabid animal. Do not touch dead animals. Seek advice from a veterinarian. Contact your doctor or health unit immediately if your child or pet comes in contact with wild animals.

If you would like to know more about rabies write for a free copy of our pamphlet, ANIMALS, RABIES AND YOU from the Ontario Health Resource Centre, Health Promotion and Information Branch, 9th Floor, Hepburn Block, Queen's Park, Toronto, Ontario M7A 1S2.

Hustlers close in on league leaders

The Rockcliffe Hustlers wreaked havoc in Lindsay last week, taking wins against both the Lindsay Juniors and the Lindsay Turbos to draw within two points of first place in the Men's Tri-County Softball League.

The Hustlers, who now stand with a season win-loss record of 15-4, are one game away from tieing the Lindsay York Tavern club, which has had a powerful grip on first place in the league all season.

The bat of Barry Shaw started the two-game streak for the Hustlers in Lindsay Tuesday night. Shaw blasted in a three-run homer in the first inning to put the Rockcliffe club out front 3 - 0. The Juniors responded with a run in the bottom of the first, and that ended the scoring for the night. The defense took over for the remaining innings, and the Hustlers went home with a 3 - 1 win.

The Hustler's Jack Snell pitched a four-hitter for the local boys, while Barry Johnston pitched a strong six-hitter for the Lindsay side.

At home on Wednesday, the Hustlers squared off with the Lindsay Turbo and found themselves down by five runs after only two innings. The Turbo batted in three runs in the first and added two more in the second to take a strong 5 - 0 lead.

The Hustlers bounced back in the third, however, with three straight hits and another homer from the basher, Barry Shaw. Shaw's hit made it 5 - 4 Lindsay, until the fifth inning, when the Hustlers rallied for a single from Rick Boucher, who came home on a double by Dave Hartwick.

With the score tied at five, the two teams went into extra innings, but the Hustlers didn't waste time putting it away. Shaw bashed out his second homer of the night to secure the win for Minden. Jack Snell had the win for the Hustlers, relieving Shaw, while sims took the loss for the Turbo.

The Rockcliffe team got off to a good start in the Ontario Amateur Softball Association's Intermediate "D" Playoffs last Thursday, downing the Sunderland Harvesters by a score of 7 - 5 at the Sunderland diamond.

The Hustlers leapt ahead 4 - 0 after four innings before Sunderland responded with their first run. The Rockcliffe team was strong through nine innings in securing the win. Snell had his third win in as many nights on the mound for Minden, Rick Boucher slugged a homer and Dave Dollo and Glen Oliver each had three hits for the Hustlers. The two teams meet again Wednesday, August 11 in Minden, at 8:30 p.m.

At the Minden diamond this weekend, the Rockcliffe Invitational Fastball Tournament returns for three days, August 13, 14, and 15. Sixteen teams will be taking part in the tourney, which begins Friday at 7:00 p.m.

Soccer team formed

Despite rainy weather Friday evening, the initial meeting of a Minden youth soccer team was successful. Fifteen area youths from 8 to 13 years of age braved the inclement weather to indicate their interest in the sport.

Organizer Jim Milne of Haliburton brought five players from his league with him and the youngsters enjoyed an evening of skills development and a game of soccer.

Milne said the interest was great enough to continue the Minden team. For the moment, the group will meet Friday evenings at Archie Stouffer playing field. Milne said there was some discussion about changing the day the team meets, but that will be decided in the near future.

He also said that anyone interested in taking part in the team is welcome to attend the Friday evening practices. They begin at 7 p.m.

Milne has made arrangements for a team from Scarborough to travel to the county at the end of the month. He plans to form a combined team of Minden and Haliburton players to meet the visitors who he describes as "quite good". The two teams will play Saturday afternoon, August 28, in Minden with a second game scheduled for Sunday afternoon in Haliburton. The combined team will be made up of 11 and 12 year old youngsters.

A special league for high school students has also been formed in Haliburton and Milne has invited Minden and area students to join. He pointed out that a team has been formed as part of the high school recreation program and that by taking part in the summer team the students would be getting in shape for the school season as well. The team meets Monday evening at 7 o'clock at the high school.

Runaway roller

A Lindsay man was injured in Glamorgan township August 3 when he lost control of an asphalt roller and was forced to jump clear of the vehicle.

Fifty-nine year old Raymond White was working on County Road 3 in Glamorgan Tuesday at 12:35 p.m. When the asphalt roller gained momentum on a downgrade. White jumped clear only seconds before the vehicle jack-knifed and rolled over, but broke several ribs when he landed beside the road.

The man was admitted to Haliburton Hospital and later transferred by air to Sunnybrook Hospital in Toronto with a suspected punctured lung.

The accident is under investigation by Constable Mike Smith.

Three Haliburton youths are facing a series of charges after two separate incidents of assault in Haliburton village last week.

Twenty-three year old Robert Smith of Haliburton has been charged with assault causing bodily harm after a 17 year old Woodstock youth was punched in the face while working at the Haliburton Sky Slider ride.

Steven Tripp, 18, of Dysart township, was charged with consuming alcohol while being a minor as a result of the same incident.

At 11:15 the same night, two youths visiting Haliburton reported being attacked and punched while standing at the main intersection in Haliburton village. 18 year old Shaughan Wilson of Dysart township has been charged with assault causing bodily harm and breach of probation in connection with the occurrence.

Constable Brian Dunham is investigating the case.

The Dysart municipal maintenance yard on Highway 118 was the scene of a major theft August 7.

Road Superintendent Howard Roberts, arriving at the yard at 7:20 p.m. that evening, found that the township sander truck had been taken from the yard. The truck had been driven through the closed gates of the yard and was later found abandoned by Jim Beef Lake with a seized clutch. Youths were seen walking along Highway 118 towards West Guilford in the general area.

Two Hanmer, Ontario youths were later charged with the theft; they are Boris Benedicic, 16 and Andrew Corneau, 17. The incident was investigated by P.C. Bill Clendenning.

Close all around in ladies softball playoffs

The Minden Dixie Lee women's softball team has taken a 2 - 0 lead in their best of five "B" series with the Minden Juniors in women's softball league playoffs, taking an 11 - 2 win over their rivals in a Tuesday night game last week. But the margin was short-lived as the Juniors replied with a win this week to make it 2 - 1 in the series.

The Dixie Lee team led the Juniors by a single run up until the fifth inning, when Dixie Lee exploded for four runs to take a 7 - 2 lead. The Dixie Lee women added to an already comfortable margin later in the game, batting in four more runs in the top of the seventh to take the win by a score of 11 - 2.

Nelda Cully and Marg Fielding were strong for Dixie Lee, while the Juniors had a good effort from Andrea Burk and Lynda Booth. Nelda Cully had the win on the mound for Dixie Lee, with Andrea Burk taking the loss.

In the consolation series, Wilberforce moved in front of Carnarvon 2 - 0 with a weighty 20 - 7 win Wednesday night at the Wilberforce diamond.

Marilyn Peregrine was the big hitter for Wilberforce, batting out two home runs. Cindy Ablett and Jo Olzewski were also strong for Wilberforce. Shirley Harrison was a stand out for Carnarvon.

In the 'A' series, meanwhile, West Guilford came back from a one game deficit to tie their series with Haliburton 1 - 1, but the Haliburton squad went out in front again this week with a win that put them ahead 2 - 1.

The two teams met in West Guilford Wednesday night. West Guilford leapt in front 4 - 0 in the first inning, and never looked back on their way to a 12 - 4 victory. They were led by Linda Morrison and Joan McKay, with Linda Sisson turning in a great defensive game for West Guilford. Wendy Roberts had a solo home run for Haliburton, and Joan McKay tossed the win for West Guilford. Nancy Maughan was the loser for Haliburton.

Haliburton bounced back Monday night by cracking out a 16 - 5 win over West Guilford to regain the lead 2 - 1. Marla MacNaull, Nancy Maughan and Kim Roberts led the Haliburton team, with Maughan pitching the winner. Joan McKay took the loss for West Guilford.

In the second Monday game, the Minden Juniors put up a fierce battle against Dixie Lee, squeaking out a 14 - 13 win over their opponents to stay alive in the best of five. Anita Beaver was the big hitter for the Juniors, with Wendy Ballantyne turning in an equally strong performance at the plate. Helen Burk and Judy Jackson led the way for Dixie Lee. Cheryl Dillon and Andrea Burk combined on the mound for the Juniors, while Nelda Cully took the loss.

Dixie Lee now leads the series 2 - 1.

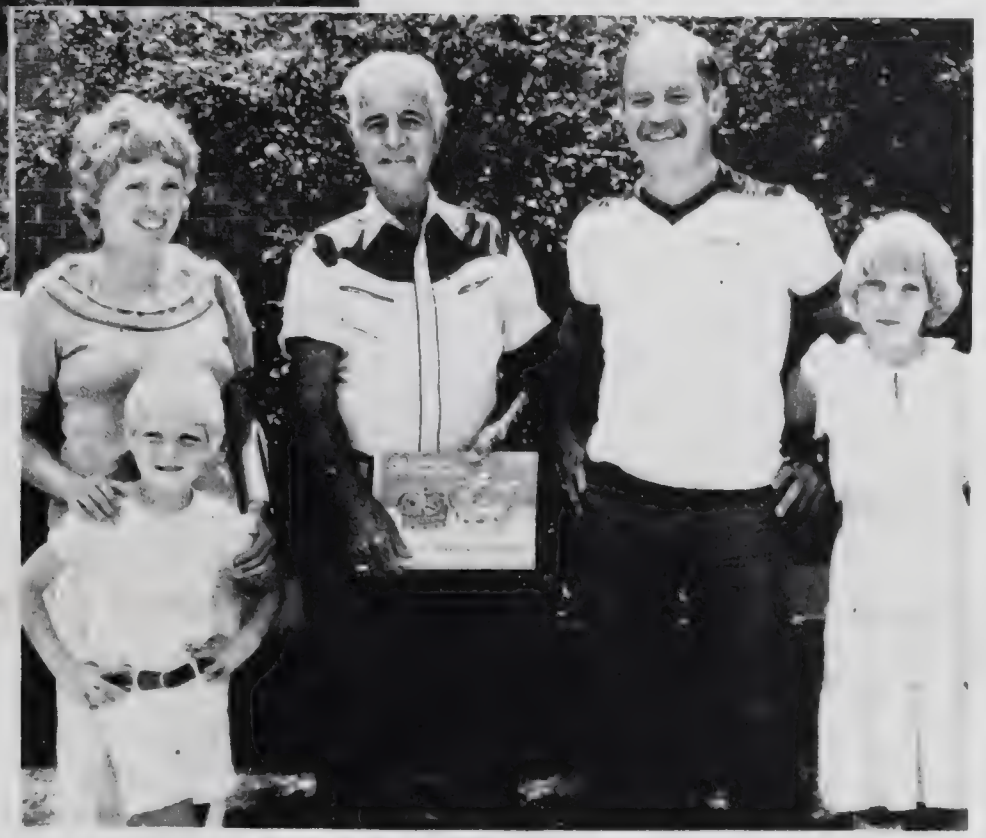
Mindeners visit Minden

Visiting Minden last week were these three young men from Minden, Germany. Uwe Heitkamp, left is a reporter with a newspaper serving the Westphalia area of West Germany where the city of Minden is located. Travelling with him were Carl-Dietmar Bradt and Axel Drexhage. They were staying with relatives in Toronto and travelled to the Highlands for the day to visit the community which bears the name of their home town. The trio planned to travel across Canada and then go south to California before returning home.



When Werner Speckhaus and his family visited Minden last week, they came bearing gifts. The family of four from Minden, Germany, brought with them a book commemorating the 300th shooting festival held annually in the German city. At the end of a day's target shooting, the best marksman is crowned King for the day. The new monarch wins the privilege of providing a banquet for all members of the club, a practice carried out in almost every major urban centre in the country.

The Speckhaus family presented Minden Reeve Lloyd Walker with a commemorative picture book on the festival, signed by the Mayor of Minden, Germany and the leader of the city's shooting club.

The Speckhaus family visited Minden for the day.

July was just about a perfect summer month. Lots of sunshine, warm days, cool nights, and below average rainfall. There was only one tenth of a degree centigrade difference in the average temperature for July 1982 and 1981.

The only weather factor to spoil the otherwise perfect month, was the severe wind storm which crossed the county from west to east on July 7.

The Setting

Sir Sam would be pleased.

We're referring to Sir Sam Hughes, M.P. for Victoria-Haliburton, Defense Minister during World War One and outdoors enthusiast. Sir Sam, a native of Lindsay, constructed a summer home on Eagle Lake. Hand hewn logs, stone fireplaces and fieldstone construction made the 21 room European-style hunting lodge an island of elegance in the then wilderness of Ontario.

That casual elegance continues today at Sir Sam's Inn, the establishment that has grown up around the summer home of this well-known Canadian. And, while the wilderness may have yielded somewhat, the Inn still finds itself in a superb setting. Overlooking Eagle Lake, just east of the community of the same name, the Inn commands an excellent view of the sparkling water and verdant hills beyond.

The classic charm of the early construction is maintained inside as well. A large fieldstone fireplace dominates the lounge, where visitors can relax in comfort. The dining room overlooks the lake. A cozy bar offers a restful change of pace before or after the meal.

Sir Sam's Inn welcomes visitors to its dining room each day. You don't have to be a guest to enjoy the superb cuisine. But guests do get to enjoy the many recreational facilities the Inn has to offer, including water skiing, wind surfing, the pool, whirlpool, tennis court, and, in the winter, downhill and cross-country skiing.

Sir Sam would indeed be pleased.

The dining room is open daily from 6 to 8:30 p.m. and is fully licenced. All major credit cards are accepted. Reservations are a must, call 754-2188.

Council moves to keep county road

The confusion surrounding the county roads system was partially resolved last week, as county council voted to leave county road 1, formerly provincial highway 519, within the county system and to abandon any proposals to assume other highways from the province.

The resolution to retain county road 1 ended several months debate over the fate of the road, which was assumed from the province earlier this year in exchange for the Vankoughnet Road, now provincial highway 118. After hearing details of a report presented by the county roads committee at a special session of county council last week, councillors expressed agreement that county road 1 should be kept in the county system.

According to Roads Committee chairman Keith Tallman, who presented the committee's findings to council during the Thursday meeting, the important issue in roads transfers is construction subsidies. "If we're looking for construction dollars from the province, we haven't got a cent if we don't retain county road 1," Tallman told the group. Snowdon reeve Bob Vick, however, who has said repeatedly that the road should be returned to the province in order to save the county maintenance costs, continued to voice objections to the committee's findings and to press for the return of county road 1 to the province.

Tallman told Vick that the roads committee plans to continue with plans for the reconstruction of a second segment of highway 519, which runs from Haliburton to Eagle Lake. The county will receive $1 million in construction subsidies from the province for the work, which is scheduled to begin sometime next year.

Once the work has been completed, the road will become part of the county road system.

County engineer Bill Obee supported Tallman's view. "The Ministry of Transport, in its five-year construction forecast, had nothing planned for the old highway 519. They told us that if we assumed it, we would get $1 million in construction subsidies, to be spent on our time with day labour from the county," Obee told the meeting. Following the Thursday session, Obee repeated Tallman's findings. "If we trade any other county road, there will be no other funding dollars available. None of the other roads have a deficiency or need that would make them eligible for provincial funding," Obee said.

Sluiceway to the past

by Danny Copeland

Nestled away in the folds of Stanhope Township is one of the most interesting restoration projects undertaken in Ontario and perhaps, all of Canada.

A log sluice connecting Big Hawk Lake and the Hawk River below (some maps show it as Kennisis River) has been reconstructed. It stands completed today, a silent reminder of the once thriving logging industry which was responsible for the opening of much of Haliburton County.

Erected in the early logging days, the sluice served a useful purpose. Before it was constructed, logs being driven by water to the market would become snagged in the shallow water below the dam. The sluice, elevated two or three yards above the rapids, carried logs some 50 yards to the deeper water at the end of the rapids. The chute saved many man-hours that used to be spent attempting to free the tangle of logs below the falls.

A restoration project was begun by Stanhope residents. At that time there was little left of the original sluiceway. Some badly deteriorated bottom boards and parts of the foundation indicated where the original structure had once stood. The remainder had fallen victim to the elements and time.

Federal grants provided a large portion of the funding, $18,000, with an additional $8,000 being contributed by the municipality of Stanhope. The restoration took two years to finish with most of the work taking place in the off-season when workmen could control water levels without affecting others above and below the dam.

The work was completed in 1981. The newly built structure is as sturdy as the original.

This Hawk River sluiceway is a key to Haliburton's logging past.

The main problem that arose during reconstruction of the sluice was the amount of driftwood which had accumulated below the falls. This had to be removed before the new construction could begin. According to Stanhope Deputy Reeve Elgin Stouffer, who was instrumental in getting the project completed, many tons of driftwood had to be hoisted out of the deep gorge and deposited across the nearby road, before construction work could start.

Speaking about the historical nature of the sluice, Stouffer commented, "We should highlight these points of interest in the county. They add colour and depth to society."

The sluice is an interesting reminder of the county's past.

Because of its picturesque location, it is an attraction where one can spend the afternoon, enjoying the view and imagining the days when logs, cut from surrounding forests, rumbled down the sluice on their way to markets in the south.

To reach the sluice, take Highway 35 north from Carnarvon, turn right onto Halls Lake Road for 3.1 kilometres, then north on Big Hawk Lake for 2.7 km.

Very nice service in the chapel Sunday night. Mrs. Thompson led the singing and playing. Harold read the lesson, and offered prayer. Rev. Burgess took his text from John 3, verse 18. "Let us not love in word nor tongue, but in deed and in truth."

Monday being a holiday, we had no fun and fitness. No movies Monday night for us kids to witness, but some elderly folks came and took us out to play. So after all a very pleasant day.

Father Elliott held a nice Communion service in the chapel this August third day, assisted by Joan Waters, who says she is a grandmother, by the way.

Mrs. Currie spent a nice weekend with her family, grandchildren and friends.

Well, our gazebo is complete, all we need is chairs. When we get settled in, we sure will put on airs.

Tuesday night Earl Cooper and Kathy came along, with Earl's dear wife. Earl plays different instruments, including fiddle, and fife. They entertained us for one hour or more. We thank them for coming away from the Green Lake shores.

We welcome Mr. and Mrs. Les McGuire to Hyland Crest. We hope they will like it here, we're sure they'll fare the best.

Watched three really interesting movies Tuesday afternoon. Doris goes to all the trouble to get these nice movies, and either she or Linday stay and put them on for our entertainment, yet so few are interested enough to bother coming to watch them.

The A.C.W. Ladies from Maple Lake brought us a lovely lunch this Thursday afternoon, served it so nicely we played them some tunes. Carrie Drysdale and Linda danced, "A-coming through the Rye." Then Alfred Richardson and Linda came forth and danced to the tune of the "Cock-of-the-North", then sang "Home on the Range" and "You are my Sunshine". Doris chorded on the piano - Bert on the mouth organ, and we had a jolly time.

Ted Carr is doing something now, which really tests his brain. They have got him making a real model train.

While Jack Shaw is on holidays, Pat Ackerblade is filling in. We all like Pat, she has the cutest grin.

Bingo was put on Thursday night by Mr. and mrs. Pentney and helpers from Home Hardware. Mrs. Curry won eight bingos, so I guess she won her share.

Ida Schell, and Ethel Boice were both taken to hospitals on Friday. We hope they won't have to stay too long.

Every Friday afternoon at 2:30 p.m. Mrs. Coburn, across the way, comes in and doesn't even knock - leads us in a sing-song, tells some funny jokes. Fred Ballard came today, the organ keys he pokes. He can play organ music that is simply grand. Don't you think we should give them a real good hand?

There is no end to the joy life brings,
Sunshine, songs, birds, and growing things,
But there is no joy that quite compares,
To the handclasp of a friend who cares.

3Ms ready for debut

- by Wendy Laking -

The Triple M's have set tentative dates for their debut performances, the first one being Sunday, August 22 in Minden and then, back by popular request, on Sunday, August 29 in Haliburton. Our programme is really shaping up and now includes Kermit the Frog's hit song "The Rainbow Connection" from The Muppet Movie, and a famous John Denver tune, among others. The members are keen, diligent and very talented musicians as well as being some of the friendliest young people I've ever worked with. I don't want this summer to end!

The members of the Dixieland Ambassadors are each holding down two jobs this summer as the band's popularity continues to rise. Along with their regular daytime jobs, the seven members of the band have numerous bookings throughout the summer. Last Friday night they added to the streetlife excitement at the Midnight Madness Sale. They've been playing frequently at Deer Lodge and participated in the Minden Rotary Carnival last Wednesday.

- Update -

Now I know how it feels to be a full-fledged teacher. A state of panic hits as the big concerts approach. Just two more weeks until The Triple M's appear live in Minden on Sunday, August 22, and then the following week, Sunday August 29, in Haliburton in the band shell. The Dixieland Ambassadors will also be appearing with the Triple M's on these dates. It's going to be a great show so we hope you'll all come out and give us your support.

Be sure to come out and hear the infamous Dixieland Ambassadors on Friday 13th from 6:30 - 7:30 p.m. at the Minden Friday 13 Sale.

Beautify your neighbourhood. Get out on the street. Take a walk

Diseases hurt winter wheat

- Ag. report -

Winter wheat harvesting has begun. The rain in late May and June favoured disease development in many areas. As a result, reduced yields are expected.

The most common diseases are glume blotch, take-all, eyespot, and crown rot. Glume blotch results in numerous dark-brown to purplish spots on the wheat head. It can spread from the heads to the leaves and can also become seedborne.

Take-all, eyespot and crown rot all produce similar symptoms. Premature bleaching of the heads and stems, resulting in heads with few or no kernels, will occur in patches throughout the field. Decay in the bleached stems will cause the plants to lodge.

There is also considerable risk this year particularily in second year wheat or wheat following corn. Portions of the head will ripen prematurely and if these heads are kept in a plastic bag for a few days a pinkish fungus (commonly known as pink mould) will develop. This fungus produces mycotoxins which are injurious to humans as well as to farm animals, especially swine and other non-fuminants.

Little can be done about this year's crop. As far as next year's winter wheat there are several steps that can help prevent further problems. First, where possible grow wheat on land which was not used for small grains or corn this year. Secondly, use a broad spectrum fungicide treatment. Vitavax is commonly used against smut and bunt fungi but is not effective for these other diseases. Thiram, maneb and metiram can all be used alone or in conjunction with vitavax to provide complete protection.

For further information see the 1982 Field Crop Recommendations, or contact your local Agricultural Office.

The Times spot the shot contest

Each week during the summer, we'll publish a photograph, like the one below, of a familiar scene in the Haliburton Highlands. All you have to do is identify the scene and you could win redeemable at either the Minden or Haliburton Red & White Foodmaster.

$20 gift certificate

The winner will be chosen by lot from all the correct entries received by the closing date. Entries can be dropped off at The Times office Minden, sent to Box 97, Minden or placed in the contest boxes at the Minden or Haliburton Red and White Foodmasters.

There will be a new contest each week, so keep your eyes peeled and try to spot the shot.

Do you know the name of this lake? If you do, jot it down with your name and address and drop your entry off as indicated above. You could be the next winner. Please mark contest number 7 on your entry.

— WINNER —

Contest number 5.....we thought we had chosen a difficult angle on a familiar lake. Not so, it appears as 22 entrants were able to name the scene in the photograph as being that of Twelve Mile Lake, taken from just in front of the Mae Bar. The winner this week, selected by draw from among all the correct entries received, is Miss P. Chuang of Minden. Others who submitted correct answers include: Craig Black; Lorraine Proctor; Gloria Hall; Jeremy Phillips; Marjorie Phillips; Judy Phillips; Michelle Black; Carla Lichty; Jackie Smith; Diane Cowen; Dennis MacPherson; Ted Murphy; Alan H. Smith; Doris Stewart; Blanche Windsor; Linda Hamilton; Mrs. Julia Skinkle; Mr. E. MacPherson; E. Michalik; Lisa Maas and Mary Samson.

Canadians by choice

Gus and Inge Kasulke have made a choice...a choice for Canada.

In a quiet ceremony at the end of last month, the owners and operators of the Highlands Motel just south of Carnarvon, took an oath and thereby became Canadian citizens. They were among 22 others at the Peterborough ceremony who acquired Canadian citizenship. Eight nationalities were represented.

Both had been living in Canada since the early 1950's having emigrated from their native Germany. They met in Toronto and were married in 1974.

Two years later they purchased the Highlands Motel from Percy Drysdale and have since become active members of the community.

One of the main reasons they decided to acquire Canadian citizenship was, while they held landed emigrant status they enjoyed most of the rights and freedoms of all Canadians, without formal citizenship they were unable to exercise one of the most cherished rights of our Canadian democracy, the right to vote.

Inge and Gus

"We felt a part of the community here," Inge commented, "and wanted our contribution to be complete. We wanted to be able to vote, to have a say in the way our community is being run." Now as full Canadian citizens they have acquired that right.

"We're Canadians by choice," Gus commented proudly.

Fluoride water testing available

Each year more residents of our area are utilizing this public health service to determine the fluoride and nitrate content of their well water.

Since records were first maintained in 1971, over 6,500 well water samples have been analyzed by this Health Unit. A record high number of analysis have been processed for the first 6 months of this year - 553, and this in spite of the delays recently experienced by the Ministry of the Environment changeover to a computerized system.

Natural fluoride in well water in our area is relatively commonplace with approximately 12% of water samples having significant levels - 4% had adequate natural fluoride for children of all ages, and an additional 8% had adequate levels for children up to 2 years of age.

Families of our area using well water are encouraged to utilize this analysis service before placing their children on fluoride supplements. Water test bottles are available on all Health Unit offices.

Here is another list of selections now available to you from Minden Library.

Juvenile fiction

Title: Stranger In The Storm. Author: Charles M. May.

This is a good tale of two girls and the problems when they were snowed in. Find out who is the stranger and how they get along as their parents believed they were safe at the other's home.

Juvenile non-fiction

Title: Life in Bible Times. Author: Robert Henderson. 220.

This book is illustrated and tells of every day life in ancient times. The pictures are black and white, but this might give information on just what you need for that project.

Adult fiction

Title: The Elgar Variation. Author: Michael Kenyon.

It was the scandal of the decade. The elegant James, Lord Gadley, peer of the realm, compulsive gambler and man about London, left an exclusive club one night and vanished into the rain. The body of a woman was later found in his Bloomsbury town house, and the gossipmongers of Fleet Street jammed Scotland Yard news. A lover's quarrel? Or much more? Armies of police failed to find the murderer, and years later, Gadley had passed into legend. But the legend was soon to explode into sensation once again.

While his roulette losses were famous, Gadley's source of income was the well-kept secret of a small clique of highly influential officials in Whitehall and Washington with secrets - potentially ruinous - of their own. Secrets that Gadley, wherever he is, might yet make public. And now, breaking his long silence in a series of recorded tapes, Gadley threatens just that.

Suddenly British Intelligence, the CIA, even Gadley's aristocratic friends want him found and silenced - permanently, if necessary. At Scotland Yard, the buck is passed to Inspector Henry Peckover, best known for rough-rhymed verse and roller-coaster career. From the bazaars of Singapore to Long Island's Hamptons, "OUR HENRY" competes with a cast of sinister and madcap characters in search of "Jimmy the Wheel". What happens to Gadley, and to reputations worldwide, depends on who finds him first - and how quickly. This is a major novel of suspense, sophisticated humour, and corruption in the corridors of power.

Adult non-fiction

Title: How to make a Good Speech. Author: Le Roy Brown D.D.E.

This book will show you how to prepare and deliver a speech. It will help you overcome your fear of giving the speech and help you to make your subject as interesting to the listener as it is to you.

P.C.'s B.B.Q.

The National President of the Progressive Conservative Association of Canada, Peter Blaikie, will be visiting the Minden area this week as guest speaker at the 15th annual P.C. Beef Barbecue in Kinmount August 14.

Blaikie, who has travelled extensively across the country during his term as association president will be staying at Balsam Lake with his wife Maja at the cottage of personal friends.

The Annual Conservative Barbecue, which begins at 4:00 p.m., at the Kinmount fairgrounds August 14, will include old tyme fiddlers and horseshoes as well as a dance.

QUESTION: "I am very interested in local history. Could you suggest some reference material?"

ANSWER: In 1944, Lady Tweedsmuir, wife of a former Governor General of Canada, asked Women's Institutes across the country to compile local "Village Histories". Minden's Women's Institute has made the four loose-leaf binders containing local history available to the public at the Minden Library, for reference only. The first volume goes back to the 19th century.

I'm sorry to have to report the death of Nellie Dart who passed away suddenly Monday morning. Mrs. Dart was a well-known resident of Haliburton. She leaves a son, Roger.

kid's korner

by Jean Lacey

Hi kids! Summer going all right or are you just waiting for school? I have a little story for you this week, it was told to me when I was little.

One day an old lady was sweeping her floor and she found a sixpence (that's Old English money). So she went to the market and bought a pig. On the way home she said, "Pig, pig jump over the stile or I can't get home tonight." But the pig wouldn't.

She went a little farther and saw a dog, so she said, "Dog, dog bite pig, pig won't jump over the stile and I can't get home tonight." But the dog wouldn't.

She went a little farther and met a stick and she said, "Stick, stick beat dog, dog won't bite pig, pig won't jump over the stile and I can't get home tonight." But the stick wouldn't.

She went a little farther and met some fire. She said, "Fire, fire burn stick, stick won't beat dog, dog won't bite pig, pig won't jump over stile and I can't get home tonight." But the fire won't.

She went a little farther and met some water. She said, "Water, water quench fire, fire won't burn stick, stick won't beat dog, dog won't bite pig, pig won't jump over the stile and I can't get home tonight." But the fire wouldn't.

She went a little farther and met an ox. She said, "Ox, ox drink water, water won't quench fire, fire won't burn stick, stick won't beat dog, dog won't bite pig, pig won't jump over the stile and I can't get home tonight." But the ox wouldn't.

She went a little farther and met a butcher. She said, "Butcher, butcher, kill ox, ox won't drink water, water won't quench fire, fire won't burn stick, stick won't beat dog, dog won't bite pig and pig won't jump over the stile and I can't get home tonight." But the butcher wouldn't.

So she went a little farther and met some rope. She said, "Rope, rope hang butcher, butcher won't kill ox, ox won't drink water, water won't quench fire, fire won't burn stick, stick won't beat dog, dog won't bite pig and pig won't jump over the stile and I can't get home tonight." But the rope wouldn't.

So she went a little farther and met a rat. She said, "Rat, rat gnaw rope, rope won't hang butcher, butcher won't kill ox, ox won't drink water, water won't quench fire, fire won't burn stick, stick won't beat dog, dog won't bite pig, pig won't jump over the stile and I can't get home tonight." But the rat wouldn't.

So she went a little farther and met a cat. She said, "Cat, cat eat rat, rat won't gnaw rope, rope won't hang butcher, butcher won't kill ox, ox won't drink water, water won't quench fire, fire won't burn stick, stick won't beat dog, dog won't bite pig, pig won't jump over stile and I can't get home tonight." The cat said, "You go to yonder cow and get me some milk," so she went to the cow, and the cow said, "Go to yonder barn and get me three wisps of hay." So she did and gave it to the cow. The cow gave her the milk. She gave the milk to the cat and the cat drank it all up. And the cat began to eat the rat, the rat began to gnaw the rope, the rope began to hang the butcher, the butcher began to kill the ox, the ox began to drink the water, the water began to quench the fire, the fire began to burn the stick, the stick began to beat the dog, the dog began to bite the pig, and the pig jumped over the stile and the little old lady got home that night.

I hope you enjoyed that story.

Bye for now, take it easy. God bless till next time.

I intend to stand for council.

(Anson, Hindon & Minden Township)

Gary Kenney

- No planning, no action in our townships can have any lasting effect or value without the understanding, support and co-operation of all our residents.
- It can no longer be a case of "us and them".
- Seasonal residents are largely an unappreciated source of ideas, energy, and voting power at the provincial and federal levels of government.
- Seasonal residents allow us direct contact with dozens of Ontario and Federal members of parliament.

As a member of council I would propose that:
(1) Immediately a "Seasonal Residents Board" be established that would comprise of one executive member of every Cottage Owners' Association registered in Anson, Hindon and Minden Township.
(2) The "Seasonal Residents Board" meet at least twice per year to consolidate their own viewpoints.
(3) The "Seasonal Residents Board" and "The Ratepayers' Association" meet together with council at least twice per year.
(4) Representation from both the "Seasonal Residents Board" and "The Ratepayers' Association" be a matter of policy with regard to all planning and steering committees established by council on such relevant issues as acid rain, tourism and industry, roads, township development, etc.

When Jack Brohm amalgamated,
With a firm that's highly rated
I was really thunder struck you ought'a know.
When I was told "It's Bowes & Cocks",
Well, I'd rather eat my socks.
But I guess instead I'll have to eat some crow.

To my clients and my friends,
This is not the bitter end.
For to you I have a duty to fulfill.
Before a listing you have signed,
Or, if buying's on your mind,
Drop in and have a chat with Ole Keith Hill.
Keith Hill - 286-2381 or 286-1897 evenings.
